Time History

Spotted Pony / Horse Shows

It is quite common for details about Old Time events to get lost and the names to become confused over time. In this case, we have two names that are the same, but an accidental misreading of a recording played a substantial role in taking the title of both. Thanks to the original, time, and the folk process, the name that most of us know as "Spotted Pony" is actually "Horse Shows." Learn how more about both in this month's Time History.
